The Orchards veterans welcome Wayne Rioux for ‘coffee talk’

The Orchards at Southington is very pleased to welcome to our community Wayne Rioux, veterans liaison with Hartford HealthCare At Home. Wayne, a Vietnam War-era veteran, has begun visiting our veterans the second Wednesday of each month for an informal coffee hour. During his initial visits he shares his military service background and his life in review.

Wayne possesses a wealth of knowledge in providing information regarding benefits, entitlements, services for veterans and spouse, assists with obtaining medals, discharge papers and service-connected disability to name a few services. Each month Wayne visits he reviews historic military events for that month and assists with any questions or concerns our Orchards veterans may have. He will also make himself available to any veteran who requests a personal visit. Wayne's reassuring, caring and calm demeanor represents his true respect and admiration for all veterans he encounters.

More than 20 residents of The Orchards have served in all branches of the U.S. Armed Forces in the U.S. Army, Coast Guard, etc. during times of peace and conflict including World War II, Korean War and Vietnam War. We salute them for their service.

The Orchards is extremely honored and proud to have Wayne join our community.
