

Dementia Symposium for Healthcare Professionals

The silver tsunami has reached fruition and has brought rising diagnoses of dementia. The statistics are staggering with one in nine people 65 and older having a diagnosis of a dementia and one in three seniors die with Alzheimer's disease or a related dementia. In Connecticut there are 75,000 individuals living with a dementia. This is expected to climb to 80,000 by 2020 and 91,000 by 2025. Caregivers and families are struggling to keep their loved ones home. With this disease brings the need for different care strategies. Families and both formal and informal caregivers need help, support and coaching throughout all of the stages of dementia. Dementia is different than any other chronic disease in the fact that we need to develop different communication strategies, use innovative techniques to provide care, continually assess the person and environment for safety, and strategically plan for future needs.

Objectives:

- Articulate the significance of obtaining an early diagnosis of dementia
- Recognize the difference in symptoms of dementia, delirium & depression
- Describe the benefits of a planned day for a person with dementia
- Discuss the obstacles, effects, & emotional impact that caregiving has on a caregiver
- Define the benefits of physical activity and cognitive therapy interventions in a person with dementia
- Articulate the effects of commonly used medications in a person with dementia
